How can humanitarian civil society better navigate a complex world?

The importance of NGO engagement with host governments

Amplify your initiative!

ICVA’s 2017 Annual Conference will explore how NGOs undertaking humanitarian action can better navigate a complex world and strengthen their capacity to operate – and how more effective NGO engagement with host governments can strengthen the ability to operate at field levels.

Is your organization involved in initiatives supporting NGOs to navigate increasing pressures to operate effectively?

Amplify your initiative at ICVA’s Annual Conference!

This may involve sharing your initiatives in working groups or in plenary sessions.

We want to hear of initiatives (research; advocacy; projects) addressing:

- Increasingly burdensome regulatory environments – including registration, operational and financial constraints.
- Instances of limited safe access to affected populations
- Intimidation, threats and attacks on humanitarian action
- ...and other impacts NGOs are experiencing

2017 ICVA Annual Conference
Tuesday 28 March
09:00 – 1700, CICG, Geneva

How to be involved?

A limited number of opportunities will be available for NGOs to share their initiatives.

Contact secretariat@icvanetwork.org or apply on ICVA’s website by Friday 1 March
